Freshman applications increased 4 percent and the acceptance rate was 74 percent, down from 82 percent in 1996. The Fall 2004 freshman class size was 3,364, the largest freshman class in VCU's history and the sixth year in a row the freshman class has increased in size. The number of new undergraduate transfer students increased from 1,589 in 2003 to 1,834 in 2004. The incoming freshman class includes 1,245 minority students or 37 percent of the total incoming class. VCU had a total headcount enrollment of 26,770. Final plans will be announced as soon as details are arranged.

Mr. Rosenthal reported for the Academic and Health Affairs Policy Committee. The Committee met with members of the Faculty Senate Executive Committee. The faculty emphasized the opportunity afforded by the development of a new strategic plan to create a climate at VCU conducive to recruitment and retention of faculty.

The Proposal for Initiation of a Transitional Doctor of Physical Therapy Program was presented. The proposed Transitional Doctor of Physical Therapy (t-DPT) program is intended for practicing physical therapy clinicians that have B.S. or M.S. degrees in physical therapy and offers a didactic augmentation of clinicians’ professional education to meet current and future expectations for physical therapy practice. Upon successful completion of the 15-21 credit program of study, graduates will have knowledge, skills, and behaviors at a level consistent with the current professional (entry-level) DPT standards and will be awarded the Doctor of Physical Therapy (DPT) degree. The t-DPT program will provide practicing therapists with a mechanism to attain degree parity with more recently prepared therapists that hold the professional DPT by addressing the key differences between the professional baccalaureate or master’s degree PT education and the current professional DPT degree education. The Academic and Health Affairs Policy Committee recommended to the full Board the approval of the Proposal for Initiation of a Transitional Doctor of Physical Therapy Program.

The Proposal to Amend the Faculty Promotion and Tenure Policy and Procedures, Section 3.3. was presented.
